BRYAN TO SPEAK AT CITY AUDITORIUM

"Commoner" Will Be Here To-Day and To-Morrow Under Auspices of Y. M. C. A.

The prediction that the great men's meeting of this afternoon, which will be held at the Auditorium, Cary and Linden Streets, will be the largest in the history of Richmond, is likely to be fulfilled. A constant throng of callers has kept at least two of the Young Men's Christian Association officers busy for the last forty-eight hours, and hundreds of men have had to be turned away from the Sunday meeting, because the Auditorium would not begin to hold all who applied. Secretary McKee said last evening, "We would have been delighted to have given tickets to all who called." The doors will open at 3 o'clock. Admission will be by invitation only until 3:30, at which time the doors will be thrown open and men admitted until the house is full. The meeting will be for men only, this because there is no room for the women, and it is useless for them to apply. Chief Warner has promised to send out several of his men and see that perfect order is kept on the outside, so that those who are in may have the privilege of worshiping without any noise or annoyance. Mr. Bryan will be introduced by Hon. J. Taylor Ellison. The seventh Street Christian quartet will sing. The meeting will be in charge of General Secretary McKee. Mr. Bryan delivers his lecture, "The Old World and Its Ways," at the City Auditorium to-morrow night.

STUDENT GREETING TO COLONEL BRYAN

Nebraskan Delivers Patriotic Address at William and Mary.

LAUDS THOMAS JEFFERSON

Filled With Emotion at Times, and Came Near Weeping.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILLIAMSBURG, VA., June 1.—William J. Bryan spoke for over an hour and a half to the faculty and students of William and Mary College in the college chapel this morning. It was not known until last night that Mr. Bryan would speak here, but despite this fact and the rainy weather, the chapel and library were crowded with visitors and students. When Mr. Bryan arose to speak he met with such an outburst of applause as has seldom gone out from beneath the old walls.

Mr. Bryan began his speech with a brief explanation of the principles for which he had fought in 1896, and gave President Tyler the credit of having been one of the few college presidents who had really understood the question. Accompanying these remarks was an undercurrent of humor, which appealed to the audience.

Mr. Bryan spoke of his interest in the college, as the alma mater of Thomas Jefferson, his great political ideal, and of the desire which he had long had to visit the historical institution. "Thomas Jefferson," he said, "was the greatest constructive statesman the world has ever produced." Mr. Bryan spoke enthusiastically of the principles advocated by Jefferson, and said that if applied aright they would cover every problem which confronts our government at the present time.

An Impressive Talk.

From this point Mr. Bryan gave a very impressive and inspiring talk, at times eloquent, to the students. He gave them the great ideal principles which he carried into his own life, thus illustrating the practical results of a religious life. When Mr. Bryan spoke of his having stood in the world as a poor boy, and of his debt of gratitude to the world, he broke down with emotion, and for several moments had to remain silent, with tightly drawn lips, before he could regain his composure.

Mr. Bryan's Address Covered a Broad Range.

He said that faith should be the predominant force in every man's life—faith in himself and God; faith in himself to do what is right, and faith in God to bring good results. As expressed by Rev. Mr. Goodwin, Mr. Bryan's address was a peculiarly great benefit to the student body. It showed them the great religious principles which our greatest men take into their lives, and that religion is a necessary accompaniment of greatness.

Shook Hands in Rain.

A most impressive scene was formed after the speech, when the student stood in a pouring rain, with bare heads, in two long lines, on either side of the narrow walk down which Mr. Bryan must pass, to shake hands with the distinguished visitor.

Mr. Bryan Visited Jamestown This Afternoon, and Left on the Evening Train for Norfolk.

MAJOR LASSITER TALKS.

Says He Did Not Ask Mr. Bryan to Nominate Daniel.

Congressman Francis R. Lassiter, of the Fourth Virginia District, said last night regarding Mr. W. J. Bryan's interview in the Washington Post of yesterday that he had not nominated Senator Daniel nor asked Mr. Bryan to do so, unless Mr. Bryan so construed his remarks pointing out the difference between conditions now and in 1896, and his eulogy of Senator Daniel as a man the Virginia and the national Democracy would be proud of.

Mr. Lassiter agreed with Mr. Bryan in thinking that the newspapers might very properly discuss the matter, and that the sooner they did so the better it would be for the Democratic party.

WRECKS STEEL SPAN OVER JAMES RIVER

Structure at Scottsville Swept Away by Raging Torrent.

CAUGHT BY DRIFTING WOOD

Heavy Rains Cause Other Damage and Sent River Up Two Feet or More.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SCOTTSVILLE, VA., June 1.—The rains of yesterday and to-day have caused a considerable rise in the James, the water being up about two feet so far and still gaining rapid headway. The last span of the steel bridge across the river at this point was washed away this afternoon, though the rest of the bridge and the last concrete pier stand firm. The bridge force had been hard at work all day in the pouring rain trying to complete the span which was lost, but a great quantity of driftwood in the river caused all the trouble, the trestlework and iron being caught, overturned and submerged.

The workmen made brave efforts to save the bridge, but when they got the iron resting on the last pier, the driftwood struck and cleared it off, as it was not quite secure. In half an hour more the work would probably have been proof against the waters. Efforts are being made to save the many ties near the Chesapeake and Ohio depot. The freight cars in the local Hardware River is also very high, being all over the plantation of Mr. Walter S. Dorrier, at Mount Pleasant, and nearly over the bridge near his home. Merchants are moving their property out of the stores in lower Scottsville.

TRAIN KILLS OLD WOMAN.

Mrs. Mary Childress Crushed to Death in Yards at Danville.

DANVILLE, VA., June 1.—While attempting to cross the track ahead of the train Mrs. Mary Childress, an aged white woman, was struck by Southern Railway passenger train No. 35, south-bound, just inside of the yards here this afternoon and almost instantly killed. She was walking along the track alone with several bundles under her arm when the train approached. She was knocked a considerable distance down the track, and her head struck a freight car. The police authorities are in a dilemma to-night to know what action to take. Mayor Harry Wooding, Judge A. M. Aiken and Justice of the Peace W. A. Baugh are attending the Confederate Reunion in Richmond, and the only justice of the peace, W. T. Law, is quarantined on account of smallpox in his family. At present there seems to be no one left who has the authority to empanel a coroner's jury. The woman leaves several sons and daughters.

HEALTHY SCHOOLMA'AM

Found Out How to Feed Herself.

Many school teachers, at the end of the year's work, feel thoroughly exhausted and worn out, physically and mentally. The demand upon the nerves and brain of a teacher is unusual and unless they are well fed and fed upon properly selected food, it is natural that they should run down.

A little woman teacher in Mich., who has been teaching regularly for a number of years, has always found herself thoroughly exhausted at the end of the session, until within the last year she has made use of Grape-Nuts food with the result that she also closed the year as a robust, healthy, strong, vigorous woman, having gained in weight from 90 pounds to 120; her nerves strong, face bright and cheery, and really a wonder to all her friends, who constantly comment on her color and strength. She knows exactly to what the change is attributed, for in the years past, living on ordinary food, she has almost broken down before the school year closed, whereas since using Grape-Nuts, this change has been brought about; evidence prima facie of the value of Grape-Nuts food for rebuilding the brain and nerve centers.
